PUBLISHER'S NOTICE.

THE Publisher now presents the second publication of his Directory, and must at the same time apologize for its delay. He can assure the business public, for whose benefit the book has been compiled, that in future his Directory will be issued in January each year, and it will embrace a much larger number of towns than the present one contains. It is also the Publisher's intention to arrange the city of Limerick in alphabetical order, and also classify the business houses according to their several trades, which will, no doubt, be a vast improvement to the work. The Street Directory will be continued as usual. The proprietor trusts that the public will appreciate his efforts in thus, for the second time, supplying a much felt want, and at a trifling expense. Any deficiencies he trusts will be kindly overlooked,

Limerick, February, 1875.

LIMERICK,

Population 44,448,

Is a populous city of considerable extent, situated on the River Shannon, distant from Dublin 94 miles south-west, from Cork 50 miles, from Waterford 66, and from Tralee 50. Is a seaport town of much importance. Limerick is traditionally supposed to have been built by Yuorus, in the year 155. and was anciently much frequented by foreign merchants. After the arrival of the Danes in 855, those enterprising people effected a very great improvement in its commerce. The English took possession of it in the year 1174; and so important was it at that period, that King Richard in 1197, being the ninth year of his reign, granted a charter to the citizens to elect a mayor, an honour which was not obtained by the citizens of London for ten years subsequent to that date; nor had Dublin or Cork a mayor until the 13th century. Being originally walled, and situated far apart from commanding heights, it was looked upon as the strongest fortress in Ireland, and thereby enabled the inhabitants in those days to successfully withstand several memorable sieges. In the year 1690, King William brought his forces against it, but was ultimately compelled to withdraw them, without accomplishing its reduction. On the 23rd of September, 1691, after the garrison had grown tired of the war, and given up all hopes of the arrival of the French fleet, General Ginkle, then commanding the English forces, was solicited for a cessation of hostilities, whereupon a treaty was entered into, the terms of which were, that the Irish Roman Catholics should enjoy the exercise of their religion, in as full a manner as in the reign of Charles II., and that their Majesties would endeavour to procure for them the security of Parliament in this particular. All included in the capitulation were promised the enjoyment of their estates, and the peaceable pursuit of their professions and callings. The gentry were to be allowed the use of arms and no oath required of them except the oath of allegiance. The treaty alluded to is said to have been signed on a large piece of the purest limestone, not far from Thomond Bridge, where it was afterwards removed, and remained for many years close to the door of a spirit tavern. In this position it was often subject to the hammer of the antiquary: a small portion of it, set in a ring, is reported to have realized the large sum of £1,000, at a bazaar in America. Observing it gradually decrease in size, a few patriotic gentlemen, amongst whom Mr. Michael Mulcahy was foremost, set a subscription list on foot, which resulted in a handsome cut stone pedestal being erected, close to Thomond Bridge, and on it now rests this historic relic. To perpetuate the memory of the surrender of Limerick, two medals were struck, by order of King William, who then became Master of the Kingdom. The first of these exhibited the bust of William, crowned with laurel; on the reverse, Hercules holding a club over Ireland prostrate; while France, having the fleur-de-lis on her target, flies out of the field. The second medal was more appropriate than the other. It presented the busts of King William and Queen Mary, crowned with laurel, and surrounded by their titles. On the obverse was the latin inscription, Non hæc sine numine Divum (these things are due to propitious heaven); and on the reverse, Limerica capta, Hibernia subacta, Octobris, 1691, (Limerick taken and Ireland subdued October, 1691.) Among the most prominent of manufacturing establishments is that of Sir Peter Tait, D.L., situate at Boherbuoy. The borough of Limerick returns two members of Parliament; it is at present represented by Richard O'Shaughnessy, Esq. and Isaac Butt, Esq., Q.C. Education has made rapid strides for some years past, particularly among the poorer classes of citizens. many of whom have been thereby enabled to compete for positions of trust in this and other countries. The lines of railway have gradually increased, until the city has been brought into daily communication with the principal cities, towns, and villages throughout the kingdom. The Lunatic Asylum is a handsomely situated building, on the Cork road. On the 13th of May, 1873 and during the mayoralty of Mr. J. J. Cleary, the new Graving Dock was opened by his Excellency, The Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. Last year the first sod of the People's Park, Perry Square, was raised by Mr. Cleary, in the presence of the members of the corporation and a large number of citizens. Baker Place has been much improved by the magnificent Clock Tower which stands in the centre, and which was erected some time since, by the citizens, to Sir Peter Tait, D.L. in recognition of his many services rendered to Limerick. Assizes are held here twice a year, and the present chairman of the county, T.A. Purcell, Esq., Q.C., sits four times a year, on which occasions cases of a most important character are adjudicated upon, leaving but a small amount of business for the assizes. The city magistrates hold a court every day, and petty sessions are held in the county and city courts, on Thursday and Friday in each week. The ordinary markets take place daily. A fair for the sale of cattle and sheep is held on the first Thursday in every month, and the montly market for pigs on the first Tuesday of every month. Our Great Munster Fairs come off in April, June, and October, and are generally largely attended by horse buyers, particularly from England, France, Prussia, Austria, &c. The Harbour Commissioners meet once a fortnight, on Mondays. The Governors of the District Lunatic Asylum, once a month, on Mondays; and the Guardians of the Poor, on Wednesdays, weekly.

LIMERICK

GENERAL AGENCY OFFICE.

This Office has been established for the purpose of Collecting Outstanding Debts in sums of 5s and upwards, throughout the City of Limerick, and adjacent Counties, on a simple and comprehensive system, and at a very trifling expense—thereby obviating the unpleasant necessity of having recourse to legal agency.

Wholesale and Retail Dealers will find this Office a great convenience.

The Services of an experienced Solicitor has been engaged for the purpose of giving legal advice in intricate or doubtful cases, whenever necessary, without any charge whatever to the client, except by special agreement.

When a debt is collected or recovered, the amount, less commission, will be immediately handed over.

Information regarding the standing of parties requiring Credit will be given privately and in strict confidence.

Rents Collected,

Debts Purchased.

Accounts Audited,

And all Business connected with ACCOUNTANCY transacted with the utmost Despatch and Regularity.

Terms on application to

(POPULATION, 1,687).

Is a prosperous little town, about 15 English miles, South-east of Limerick, with which it communicates daily by posting cars. Quarter Sessions are held here four times a year, and Petty Sessions once a fortnight (on Wednesdays). There are two fairs held annually, which are pretty largely attended, and a Butter Market every Monday; the usual supply of butter is about 500 firkins. The Faithful Companions have got a handsome Boarding School here for young ladies, at which there is generally 90 boarders. There is also a Christian Brothers' School, attended by nearly 200 pupils.

(POPULATION, 504.)

This little village is delightfully situated on the river Shannon, within six miles of Limerick, on the Limerick and Killaloe line of railway. The seats of the gentry in the immediate neighbourhood are numerous, and present a most picturesque appearance. To the citizens of Limerick a drive to Castleconnell has been at all times considered one of the richest treats imaginable. Latterly several improvements have been effected; amongst the most prominent of these is the erection of a handsome limestone Roman Catholic Church.

(POPULATION, 1,182)

Is a handsome little town situated within ten miles of Limerick on the Cork line of railway. Through the town runs the river Mague, on which are situated the flour mills of Henry Lyons, Esq, which affords employment to numbers of the townspeople. There are four fairs held annually under the following dates, May 3rd, June 22nd, September 1st, and December 8th. Petty Sessions are held once a fortnight and the guardians of the poor meet weekly (on Thursdays). Within a short distance of the town, and situated on the river Mague, is the Court of Carrass, the residence of Thomas Browning, Esq, which, together with that of Sir David Roche's, which lies adjacent, can scarcely be surpassed for the beauty of their surroundings.

RATHKEALE

(POPULATION, 2,751)

Is a prosperous town on the river Deel, fourteen miles West of Limerick, on the Limerick and Foynes Railway. It is situated in an extensive pasture and tillage country, residing in which are to be found a highly respectable class of farmers, many of whom are owners of property purchased in the Landed Estates Court. The town itself, though long, and presenting a want of uniformity in its arrangement, is withall a leading one of business, the shops being extensive and well-assorted in the different trades carried on in them. Close to the Bridge is situated the new Gas House, under the management of Mr. Patrick Barrett; and within a short distance of the town are the extensive flour mills of Mr. Timothy Enright. Quarter Sessions are held four times a year, in January, April, June, and October. Sixteen fairs are held during the year for the sale of Cattle and Sheep; the dates are as follows:—January 7, February 7, March 10, April 4 and 24, May 8, June 1 and 19, July 17, August 6 and 25, September 18, October 15, November 4 and 18, December 13. The Pig Markets are held on the previous day in each case. Petty Sessions are held once a fortnight, on Thursdays; the Guardians of the Poor meet on Friday, weekly; and the Town Commissioners on special occasions.

NEWCASTLE

POPULATION 2,449.

Is a flourishing business town, situate on a branch of the Limerick and Foynes Railway, which terminates at the town, it is distant from Limerick 20 miles west, a considerable stream called the Arra, runs through the town and empties itself into the Deel, so famous of late years for its salmon fishing. In the centre of the town is a beautiful square, in which stands the National and Provincial Banks, the Police Barrack, and other important public buildings. Quarter Sessions of the peace are held four times a year and Petty Sessions weekly (on Fridays). There is an extensive butter market held here once a week, at which there are seldom less than 1,600 firkins offered for sale, and in some instances there has been over 2,000 firkins in market, all of which is generally bought up quickly, as buyers attend from the principal towns in Munster. There are also 13 horse and cattle fairs held annually, the pig market being held on the day previous in each case. The guardians of the poor meet once a week. Well kept roads and footways together with several handsome villas, render the approaches to the town in every direction most agreeable. The Castle at present occupied by Charles Curling, Esq, agent to the popular lord of the soil, Rt. Hon the Earl of Devon has attached to it an extensive and beautifully ornamented demesne which has been most liberally thrown open to the public for recreative purposes. There is an ancient building here called "The Desmond Hall," it is yet in a perfect state and used as a Masonic Hall. It is supposed to have been one of the residences of the Geraldines, so famed in Irish history. It was proposed lately to have Town Commissioners elected for Newcastle, but the inhabitants objected to it thinking that the taxation might become too high.

COUNTY OF CLARE.*ENNIS

(POPULATION, 6,394)

Is the Assizes Town of the County of Clare, within twenty miles north-west of Limerick. It is situated on the River Fergus, which is spanned by six bridges, and only navigable to the village of Clare Castle, two miles distant from the town, where there is a fine quay. There are extensive flour mills and a large inland trade, but no manufactures of any importance are carried on. The name of the principal street has been changed by the inhabitants to that of O'Connell-square, in consequence of the erection in it of the splendid column and colossal statue (by Hogan) to the memory of the great O'Connell. The public buildings of note are, the Catholic Church, which has a splendid Gothic tower and spire 170 feet high; the new Protestant Church, a handsome Gothic edifice: the Franciscan Church, Presbyterian Church, Convent of Mercy, Christian Brothers' Monastery, the Court House, built at a cost of £12,000, Gaol; Militia Barracks, Infirmary, and Union Workhouse. The new Luanatic Asylum, a magnificent building, which cost £51,000, was erected in 1868, at Doolick, within a quarter of a mile of the town. The Provincial and National Banks are very handsome buildings, and the Bank of Ireland, who have at present temporary offices, are about to build a new bank in O'Connell-square, at a cost of £6,000. The local government of the town is vested in eighteen Commissioners, under the Towns' Improvement Act. A Petty Sessions' Court is held every Friday; and Saturday is the market day each week. The Guardians of the Poor meet on Wednesdays, the Governors of the Lunatic Asylum the second Saturday in each month, and the Gaol Board of Superintendence the first Saturday in each month. The borough returns one member to Parliament, and it is at present represented by William Stackpool, M.P., Ballyala. The number of electors in 1874 was 287.

This Company was founded in the year 1822, with a view of affording to the Irish public, through the medium of a purely Irish Institution, all the advantages to be derived from Insurance in its several branches.

Perfect Security to the Assured arising from the large Capital, Reserves, and Accumulated Funds of the Company.

The Premiums required, although moderate, entitle the Assured to two-thirds of the whole Profits realized in the Life Department.

No expense whatever incurred on effecting Life and Fire Assurances beyond payment of Premium.

All Policies upon the Lives of Persons not in the Military, Naval, or Maritime Service, and upon which age is admitted, are, subject to the payment of premium, declared free from all conditions, except in cases of fraud or misrepresentation, when they have been in force five years, provided the Life has attained the age of thirty, and has not during the continuance of the Policy exceeded the usual prescribed limits.

To H. BROWN Esq.

DEAR SIR,—Having now concluded the Audit of the Agency accounts of the Cork and Kerry Estates of the Earl of Kenmare, for a period of three years ending 31st May last, I beg to express to you my sense of your services as Accountant in connection with these accounts and my entire satisfaction with the accuracy and thorough acquaintance with the principles of account which you have exhibited in the performance of an arduous duty.

Yours truly,

S. E. DE VERE,

Auditor to Lord Kenmare

On the importance of skilled labour in Accountancy to every Landed Proprietor and Agent, there need be no remark; from my long experience, the value of same has been recouped to all parties a hundred-fold, independent of the satisfaction by the release from all anxiety or misconception on part of either with the advantage to the Proprietor of a clear review of his Income and Expenditure in all its details per the Estate, and thus guiding him on safe date either to farther outlay or retrenchment, as found desirable.

NEW GARDEN AND FARM SEED WAREHOUSE,

70, WILLIAM-STREET, LIMERICK.

R. ERANGHEY

(Late of J. & G. Boyd),

Begs to intimate to the Landed Proprietors and Tenant Farmers of the surrounding counties that he has opened the above Warehouse for the Sale of

Genuine Unadulterated Agricultural Seeds and Manures.

From his extensive knowledge of the trade requirements of this City for the past 18 years, eleven of which he has transacted business for the Firm of J. and G. Boyd, he is desirous of supplying to the Farmers, Agricultural Seeds saved from the best Stocks raised in England and on the Continent, such as shall give general satisfaction to all purchasers.

His Stock of Clover and Grass Seed, Swede and Aberdeen Turnip, Mangold and Carrott, &c., will be found equal in quality to those sent out by first-class English Houses, and much more moderate in price.

He would call particular attention to his select proportions of Clover and Grass Seed for permanent Pasture, Meadow, and soiling, supplied from 16s to 22s per Irish acre, containing those varieties most adapted for permanency of character and rich luxuriance of crop—

Choice English, French, and American Red Clovers.
True Cow Grass, or Perennial Red Clover.
White Dutch, Alsike, and Yellow Clover.
Select Imported Italian and Perennial Rye Grass.
Natural Grasses in variety—Select Samples.
Genuine Dutch and Riga Flax Seed.
Imported Scotch Oats and Chevalier Barley
Superior Swede and Aberdeen Turnip Seed.

Agent for Norrington and Hingston and Co's Superior Bone Superphosphate and Genuine Peruvian Guano.

All Seeds Sold by R. ERANGHEY during the past season have given the most general satisfaction.

The New American Kirby's Mowing, Reaping, and Self-Delivery Machines.

R. ERANGHEY,
SEED MERCHANT AND IMPLEMENT AGENT,
70, WILLIAM-STREET, LIMERICK.

Has been appointed Agent for the Sale of the above celebrated Machines: Limerick District, now acknowledged to be the most superior Machines in the Market.

From the trials in which the KIRBY MOWER has competed for the past season in Ireland, it has met with decided success, and has taken 1st Prize at the great Irish trials held at Blarney on the 21st July, 1874, competing against Woods', Samuelsons, Williams, and Hornsby, it received the universal approbation of the field, and was remarked for its lightness of draught, cleanness of cutting, simplicity of management, strength and durability of construction. The weight of the pole on the horses' necks—which is much felt in other machines—is entirely done away with in the KIRBY, by a very ingeniously constructed four-wheel carriage, which admits of the machine to travel over the most uneven surface with the greatest ease. The fingers are constructed of the best malleable iron, cased with steel, over which the sections run, and which keep them constantly sharp. It seldom requires more than one knife to take down from four to five acres. The knife bar is strong and broad and not liable to breakage. The fingers are of the improved canoe shape, for which we hold the patent, and cannot be attempted by any other maker. This shape finger is one peculiarly adapted for going through mossy wet bottoms, and tangled cross-laid crops with the greatest ease, avoiding the continual stopping of the horses, which is a source of great annoyance in many other machines in cross crops. 50,000 of these machines are now in use on the American Continent.

The New SELF DELIVERY COMBINED REAPING MACHINE is a wonder of ingenuity, being universally admired for the beauty of its work and the surprisingly easy and regular motion of its rakes, which throw off the sheaves in perfect form, ready for the binder, without the least straggling of the corn.

We have this year brought out a 1 HORSE MOWER for small holders, which is a perfect gem in its way, and which will supply a want long felt, being guaranteed to work out the day with one horse, requiring no second.

All Farmers requiring Machines for the coming season are requested not to purchase until they have inspected the KIRBY.

One Day's Trial given with all Machines sold, for approval before paying.
